Navigating Foreclosure on Tribal Land (NA003wt)

Tuesday, May 7, 2024 | 12:30 – 2pm

As the Native homeownership market grows in Indigenous communities across the country, Native and Native-serving practitioners are examining the differences with the foreclosure and eviction processes, procedures, and realities on tribal land. Tribal sovereignty, customized mortgage products, and cultural considerations all play a role. This course will help practitioners to navigate the foreclosure and eviction processes and explore how to best counsel clients towards housing stability. Lenders will gain a better understanding of relevant legal processes and how to engage with borrowers.
